Four year veteran, Pascale, takes position of Gateway editor-in-chief

Al Pascale, 21-year-old January senior, takes over as Editor-in-Chief of The Gateway this semester.

The new headmaster was city editor under Emmett Dunaway last spring. A veteran of four years on The Gateway staff, he has also served as co-sports editor, sports editor and news editor. He is aiming at a Bachelor of Alan Pascale . . headaches coming up.

Science Degree with a major in writing.

Moving into the city editor slot is last year's editorial writer, Lois Brady. She is succeeded by Sally Step, formerly a news editor.

Continuing the parade of femininity on the 1949 staff are Glenna Perkins and Jean Durney. They will serve as news editors. Both were copyreaders last year.

McNutt heads Sports
New head man on the sports desk is Bob McNutt, an ex-assistant sports editor. Mark Gautier steps up from sportswriter to become his assistant.

The Gateway society page this fall will be edited by Jean McDonald. Miss McDonald, a news editor last spring, will have another of last year's reporter as her assistant. She is Ann Weinhardt.

Feature editor for the new semester is Tom Townsend. And rounding out the editorial staff are fire copy readers: June Williams, Marilyn Hayes, Diane Hough, Tom Moore and Dick Keim.

Two experienced makeup men, Joe Scheibhofer and Dick Clark, will be makeup editors. Both held the same positions last spring.

Milo Treska will do the worrying about costs. He follows Jim Hergert as business manager of The Gateway.

Corncobs lure firebug

Last Saturday's pep rally bonfire sort of went up in smoke.

A brisk wind forced the Fire Department to cancel the blaze scheduled for 6:30. The firemen and students went home.

But the big pile of boxes and corncobs apparently were too much temptation for someone. An hour later the smoke-eaters were back behind the Fieldhouse—to put out a fire.

No serious damage was reported.

Harmon to speak at Founders' Day

Dr. Henry Harmon, president of Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., will be the 1949 Founders' Day speaker at the University of Omaha Friday.

He will speak at both the 10 o'clock morning convocation and the 6:30 dinner in the university auditorium.

Dr. Harmon was graduated from Cotner College in 1924 and the following year received his Master's Degree from Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky.

He attended the University of Chicago for four summers, where he was the first student to receive a complete major in university administration.

Later he was a member of the faculty of Culver-Stout College, Canton, Mo., where he headed the Department of Education. In 1934 he was made president of William Woods College, Fulton, Mo. He assumed his duties as the seventh President of Drake in 1941.

Trials for Tom Tom Revue are tomorrow

Masters of Ceremonies of the 1949 edition of the Tom Tom Revue will be Jim Ross and John Marshall.

New faces, new talent and new gags are the aim of the co-directors of this year's variety show. Both Ross and Marshall will be remembered as Pedro and Panchito in last year's Ma-ie Day skits as well as for their management of that production.

They will be aided by Chuck Boiler, business manager; Rich Carlson, band director; and Jim Borland, director of the chorus.

An s.o.s. for stage hands with any experience in high school, college or playhouse presentations has been sent out by Marshall and Ross. They are urged to report at any of the auditions.

The schedule for tryouts: Wednesday, Oct. 5; general auditions, room 385 from 3 to 5; band, Auditorium from 3 to 5; and chorus, room 438 from 4 to 6. Thursday, Oct. 6; general auditions, room 385 from 3:30 to 5:30; band, Auditorium from 3 to 5; and chorus, room 438 from 4 to 6. Friday, Oct. 7; final tryouts, Auditorium, 3 to 5.

Eugene Eppley donor of new band uniforms

The "anonymous donor" of the new band uniforms was revealed at Saturday's football game as Eugene C. Eppley, hotel executive.

It was Eppley's generosity which enabled 45 members of the university band to appear in uniform when the first campus football game in history was played Saturday.

The uniforms are a red military coat trimmed with black cord and a black Indian head sleeve patch. The trousers and cap are French blue. The cap has a black plume, and a white Sam Browne belt com-

Halftime ceremonies help dedicate Stadium

"This is a great day for Omaha!" That statement by William Campen, Board of Regents member, summed up sentiment shown at the halftime ceremonies of Saturday's football game. The program paid tribute to men who have helped make the Stadium and Fieldhouse possible.

Standing ovations were given to President Milo Bail, President Emeritus Rowland Haynes and Gene Eppley, whose contribution made the purchase of new band uniforms possible.

In one of his typical fighting talks, Dr. Bail declared his intention to make OU "the best school in the country." He praised Dr. Haynes for his work in developing the present university building program.

Gene Eppley, Omaha hotel executive, was revealed as the donor of the band's new uniforms. Bail characterized him as "a man who saw something to be done and did it."

Devoted to progress
Five members of the Board of Regents spoke of Omaha U as an institution devoted to progress in education, athletics and community service. They were Herbert Marshall, Robert Storz, Dean Vogel, Ray Ridge and Campen.

Lloyd Metheny, temporary Student Council prexy, expressed student thanks for the Stadium. He was followed by Herbert Story, Alumni Association head, who added words of appreciation on behalf of the grads.

Responding to the speakers, Virg Yelkin, athletic director, promised teams that the university and the community will be proud of.

Other platform guests included Mel Bekins, governor of Ak-Sar-Ben; W. H. Mallory and H. L. Van Amburgh, Ak-Sar-Ben counselors, and Clarence Kirkland, president of the School Board and chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

Charles Hoff, finance secretary, introduced John and Al Latenser, architects; E. E. Gilmore, contractor, and other men connected with the building of the Fieldhouse.

Roderic Crane, chairman of the festivities, served as master of ceremonies. The band played for the program.

Payne publication
"Examples of Architectural Style in Omaha," a publication by Dr. Wilfred Payne, chairman of the Humanities Department, and Eugene Kingman, director of Joslyn Memorial, will be included in the New York Public Library holdings. The publication was solicited by Mr. J. R. Fall, chief of the Acquisition Division.

pletes the outfit.

They were purchased through the Nebraska Clothing Company from the DuBois Uniform Company, which also tailors uniforms for West Point and Cornell.

Eppley donated $7,500 to the university early last spring. Half the money was used to buy the uniforms, the other half for architects' drawings of the proposed Library building.

The donor is president of the Eppley Hotel Company which operates 22 hotels throughout the

Vets leave OU, enrollment drops

Despite a 30 per cent decrease in G.I. enrollment, day school registration has dropped only two per cent from last fall's total.

And the 1870 students signed up for classes represent a one per cent increase over last year's second semester mark. This was announced Friday by the registrar's office.

Late registration will close tomorrow.

Practically complete figures show 1268 men and 602 women students. This is a "slight gain" in the ratio of women to men.

Less than 600 veterans are now attending OU. A year ago the number stood at about 900. An estimated 700 newcomers have filled that gap and the one left by graduates and transferees.

Night school enrollment is expected to be around 1900. Present information is incomplete.

Institute speaker is Gordon Mattison

The fourth annual Institute on Foreign Affairs opens tomorrow night at the university. Gordon Mattison will speak on "The Near East and World Affairs" starting at 7:30 in the auditorium.

Mr. Mattison is chief of the Division of Near Eastern Affairs of the United States Department of State. He has served as foreign service officer at Baghdad, Cairo and Damascus.

Eight authorities in the fields of government, international relations, foreign policy and politics are scheduled to speak in the next nine weeks. The Institute is sponsored by the university's Department of History and Government and the School of Adult Education, the Omaha Rotary Club and the Federation for Jewish Service and will meet on Wednesdays.

Theme for the sessions is "The Quest for Peace." William T. Utley, head of the Department of History and Government, is director of the institute.

Film library to be enlarged this year

The Audio-Visual department will expand its program for the coming year according to plans discussed by the Audio-Visual Committee at a luncheon last Friday.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Frank H. Gorman, head of the education department the committee will enlarge its film library.

Bernhard, Kremers are frosh 'Typicals'

500 students crowded into the university auditorium Friday to see Bonnie Bernhard and Kenneth Kremers crowned "Typical Freshman Girl and Boy."

The occasion was the Freshman Mixer, sponsored annually by the Student Council. Gary Peniston and his band furnished the music from 4 to 6 p.m.

Approximately 150 freshmen named the "Typical" students. Bonnie is affiliated with Chi Omega. Ken is pledged to Alpha Sigma Lambda.

Ormsby Harry, Student Council sponsor, proclaimed the dance the "most successful afternoon dance" he could remember. He also commented on the large number of students who danced in comparison to past years.

Councilman Jean Satrapa was chairman for the Mixer. Dance sponsors were Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harper and J. L. Westrate. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. Milo Bail and faculty members and their wives.

Punch was served as refreshment. Pourers were Mrs. Mary Padou Young, Mrs. Mildred Gearhart and Miss Enid Wolcott, faculty hostesses; and Eileen Wolfe, Nancy Jones, June Williams, Jackie Geilus and Miss Satrapa, Student Council hostesses.

Ex-editor Carter wins scholarship

Former Gateway editor Jack Carter has received a $1000 scholarship to the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism in New York.

This was announced in a Gateway flash bulletin Friday when word was first received from Columbia University. Columbia is generally acknowledged as the country's top journalism school.

Carter is a 26-year-old war veteran. He entered Omaha U in 1943, returned from the Navy in '46, and was graduated in 1948 with a bachelor of arts degree in psychology.

During his senior he served as city editor and editor-in-chief of the Gateway, sports editor of the Tomahawk, and co-director of athletic publicity.

Last year Carter taught English and journalism in the high school and junior college at Norfolk, Nebr. His high school paper won an All-American honor rating, the first such award in the paper's history.

Money for the scholarship is taken from a fund established by Mrs. Gilbert M. Hitchcock, widow of the founder of the Omaha World-Herald.

Trophy goes to Sig Chi for tickets sales

The football ticket selling campaign was climaxed Friday with the announcement that Sigma Chi Omicron had sold the largest number of season tickets. They will receive a trophy at the football banquet late in November.

Permanent possession of the trophy goes to the organization selling the most tickets for three consecutive years.

The contest was initiated Sept. 23 with a "kickoff" breakfast. Present were six members from each Greek organization and the Independents, President Milo Bail, Robert Storz, chairman of the Board of Regents, and the football coaches. A series of report luncheons were held during the following week.

Scheduled to close Sept. 29, the contest was extended a day on the request of students. The goal of 500 tickets was reached early Friday.

Although more than 2,000 season tickets have been sold to Omaha University football games, A. Dale Agee, athletic business manager, said that good seats are still available.

Annual Mlle contest for guests eds opens

Coeds who want a career in fashion, writing, art, publishing or merchandising are being offered a head start by Mademoiselle magazine. Mlle. recently opened its annual contest for College Board members and guest editors.

Twenty guest editors are chosen from the 200 College Board members on the basis of three assignments completed during the year. The Guest Editors will receive round-trip transportation to New York City where they will help write the August College issue of Mlle.

Last year, two Omaha U students received membership on the College Board. They were Shirley Mitchell, a '49 graduate, and Lyle Morse, who is a senior at the university this year.

The contest rules may be obtained in The Gateway office, room 304.

ASGD holds meeting Thursday, room 100

All students interested in leadership work with youth activities are invited to come to the first meeting of the Association for the Study of Group Dynamics at noon Thursday in Room 100.

Carl Morrow, Director of Program Services at the YMCA asks that men interested in leading "Gra-Y" groups—grade school boys' groups—also attend the meeting. Several are needed.

The A S G D is an organization in which the problems of group leadership are discussed.

Twenty new courses offered at university

Two courses for women only are among the 18 new courses being offered at the university this semester.

A course on Investment and Speculation will be presented through the Technical Institute on Wednesday afternoons from 2 to 4.

Household Mechanics is being offered by the College of Applied Arts and Sciences. The course is designed to teach girls how to fix gadgets around the home.

Two new courses have also been added in connection with the new physical education major. They are First Aid and Athletic Injuries and Advance Football Theory.

Beginning Hebrew is another of the new courses. It is being offered at the request of the Council of Jewish Education.

Other new courses being offered by the College of Applied Arts are Accounting Systems, two new Real Estate courses, and a course in statistics for advanced engineering students. The last course has not been offered at the university for a number of years.

Evening changes announced

Other courses in the College of Arts and Sciences are Extemporaneous Speaking, Population Analysis and Modeling and Casting, a sculpturing course.

Actuarial Training for insurance work is another course offered by the Technical Institute on Wednesday night. Other Institute courses include How to Preserve the Free Enterprise System of Business, Planning Omaha Improvements and Safety Training for Supervisors.

The School of Adult Education includes in its list of new classes Secretarial Accounting on Tuesday evening, Advanced Accounting on Tuesday evening, Credits and Collections on Wednesday evening and Natural Science 111.

The following changes have also been effected in the evening calendar: the Mother's Seminar in Children's Music has been postponed until the second semester and the Midwinter Conference Series has been replaced by several individual conferences and workshops which will be held during the year.

Doris Hanson, yo-yo champs are on TV

Sophomore Doris Hanson shared honors with a barbershop quartet and four champion yo-yo operators on the second "Coffee Counter" program over WOW-TV.

The OU coed was guest hostess on the program which spotlights the university each week. She poured coffee for MC Don Keogh, and also spoke on the increased enrollment, Freshman Day and Saturday's football game.

The barbershop quartet was the "Melody Muggs," a group of Omaha businessmen, and the yo-yoers were the four members of the national champion yo-yo team. The four are Filipinos.

Lung power glimpsed at football pep rally

OU students gave a preview of their lung power and got a glimpse of their gridiron power at Friday's pep rally.

The rally preceded Saturday's football game and introduced new students to the fight song and school yells. President Milo Bail told the student body to get behind the team and that Northern Illinois "couldn't be too tough."

Jim Ross and John Marshall presented a skit with Marshall as the typical OU coed and Ross, the typical football fan, complete with derby, a coat of undetermined origin and a cane embellished with a roll of tissue paper.

Dr. Ward says MD exams set for Oct. 2

Students wishing to take the Medical College Admission Test should report to Dr. Nell Ward in room 453 immediately.

The test is to be given October 2 as applications must reach the Princeton Office of Educational Testing Service no later than Saturday, October 8. January 2 is the deadline for the January 16 test.

Only those planning to enter the school of medicine in the fall of 1950 may apply for the test. Four tests of general scholastic ability and two achievement tests are included in the exam. No special preparation is necessary.

Petitions due

Tomorrow is the last day for filing petitions for class officers and freshmen student council members. Petitions will also be taken in the Dean of Students office for Homecoming Princess and for the one junior man's position on the Council.

Application blanks and information may be obtained from Dr. Ward.

Engineering students pass entrance tests

Standardized entrance tests in engineering were given Monday by Kenneth Bush, head of Adult Testing and Guidance center.

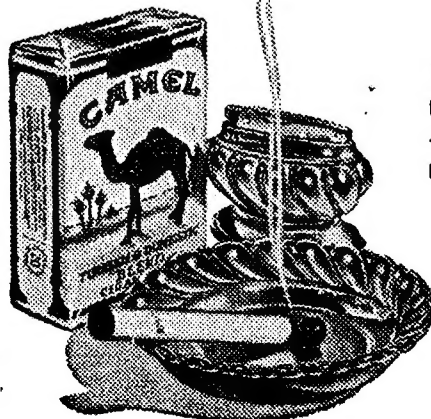

Passing scores counted as one semester's work and enabled the student to enter the second semester without further preparation. Scoring was on the basis of knowledge of the subject rather than on amount of skill.

Approximately one-third of those taking the first semester tests made passing scores.

Mistakes, fumbles ruin Indian plays

By Bob McNulty

Indian tomahawks were dull Saturday as a big Northern Illinois State team slapped a stinging 27-8 defeat on the OU tribe in the Warrior's own back yard.

It was the Indians first game in the new University Stadium.

Bootleg plays, which ran the Indians ragged, and a sudden diversion against scoring, caught up with the Omahans in the second half. And the Huskies rolled for 20 points.

Illinois began its scoring when the game was but five minutes old. After a march of 42 yards, Bob Brigham burst through for 2 yards and a touchdown. Fullback Harry Henigan kicked his first of three placements to make the score Illinois 7, Omaha 0.

OU drives halted

Omaha then started its first fruitless march of the afternoon. There were five marches deep into enemy territory but only one ended in pay dirt.

Joe Arenas and Fred Abboud lugged the ball from the Omaha 26-yard line to the Illinois six. But Abboud fumbled when hit viciously by the Illinois secondary and the Huskies recovered.

Other Omaha drives were falted on the 20, seven and 11-yard lines. Pass interceptions and fumbles plagued the Indians all afternoon.

Pickerell scores

The first bootleg play—which differs from a naked reverse in that the quarterback only fakes a handoff and runs the weak side himself—demolished the Indian hopes early in the third quarter.

Quarterback Ken Pickerell faked a handoff, hid the ball behind his hip and raced 15 yards around his own right end for the score. Henigan added the point to make it 14-0.

Omaha rallied for eight points late in the fourth quarter.

Tackle Dick Lane recovered an Illinois fumble on the Huskie 30-yard line. Arenas ran once and then hit Bud Gibbons with a pass which carried to the 20.

Then a completed pass, a fumble and an OU recovery put the ball on the Illinois six. And Abboud bulled over for Omaha's lone touchdown.

Arena's try for point was wide.

OU added two points when Dick Christie blocked a punt and Illinois recovered in its end zone for a safety. Heimerdinger's 83-yard run ended the scoring.

Mural football race to open

Touch football and bowling are scheduled to open the Men's Intramural race this year. The deadline for team entries is Oct. 12.

Intramural Director Ernie Gorr is looking for five men to manage the independent teams. Any person interested should contact Gorr immediately. Letter sweaters will be awarded to the five who become managers.

System Changed

Because the Intramural system has been revised from high school groups to city zone organization, persons interested in Intramural participation must fill out a blank which lists name, address and telephone number. On this blank he

Phys ed major is added to list

Fifty prospective coaches are now working for a major in physical education at the University of Omaha.

George S. Pritchard, advisor, stated that the new four-year course has been set up by the Athletic and Education Departments to meet heavy demands.

All candidates are required to have a minimum of 35 hours and a maximum of 40 hours in physical education and ten hours in science. They must also have met the requirements for a teacher's certificate.

Students in the program satisfactorily will receive: a Bachelor of Science degree in education, the Nebraska Initial Secondary School Certificate and the University of Omaha Certificate in Physical Education and Athletics.

WAA opens season today with volleyball

Intramural sports for women, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, are full of activities for every girl at the university. To participate the girls need not be affiliated with WAA or attend physical education classes.

A variety of sports is being organized. Bowling, played off-campus, is already underway. Outdoor volleyball teams had their first practice session last Thursday.

Any freshman girl to whom physical education classes were closed and who would like to take swimming for their P. E. credit should see Miss Enid Wolcott immediately in the Women's Physical Education Department.

day and regular games will begin today at 4:30.

Square dancing lessons will be topped off by several co-recreational parties. For winter afternoons, intramural sports offer ice skating at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum. In the spring, tennis singles and doubles will be played.

An organizational meeting of former members will be held this week, according to Virginia Taylor, W.A.A. president.

Papooses run, pass thru York B, 31-0; are undefeated in two tries

Pisasale scores on runs of 60, 15 yards

Omaha U's Papooses, still fresh from a 36-point win over Luther College, steamrollered over York's B Team, 31-0, Thursday on the York gridiron.

The game was a counterpart of the Luther game in that little opposition was shown the Indians.

A York fumble on the opening kickoff was recovered by Jack Christensen at midfield. A series of line plunges by Frank Mancuso, Vern Shires and "Bugs" Reddan set the ball on the York three. Shires, a consistent ground-gainer, plunged over for the touchdown.

Beatty Scores TD

After the ball changed hands several times, Keith Christie spotted to Don Beatty for 20 yards and the second TD. This aerial combination clicked again for Omaha's fourth counter late in the game.

Fred Pisasale stole the show during the third quarter with runs of 15 and 60 yards, both good for touchdowns. A former North High star, Chad Taylor, was credited with the longest run of the afternoon, but failed to score. Behind good blocking, Taylor galloped 70 yards only to be brought down on the 10-yard line.

Lineman Praised

Coach Don Flasterer had nothing but praise for his hard hitting linemen. Their hard rushing on defense kept the York team from penetrating the Omahan's 20-yard line.

With their backs against the wall most of the time, the Yorkmen called upon Bill Soukup and Don Erfourth to punt them out of bad holes. They responded with kicks averaging 50 yards to put the Indians back in their own territory.

Though Flasterer was evidently well pleased with his team, the victory was costly. "Bugs" Reddan will be lost for the rest of the season. A recurring angle injury forced Reddan to the sidelines early in the game.

'O' Club members meet today at 12

All OU lettermen are urged to attend the opening O Club meeting today at 12:15 in room 308.

The purpose of the meeting will be to elect a sergeant-at-arms, decide on new sponsors, and discuss plans for the coming initiation.

O Club president Rene Havac stressed the importance of having a good turn out at the first meeting so that all will have a say in the planning of future activities.

Players plan social as membership drive

University Players will be hosts at a social hour Friday, from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the east wing of the cafeteria, for students interested in joining the dramatics organization.

Harold Marer will emcee the program. Vanita Brown will give the reading she gave at Atlantic City in the Miss America contest. Miss Brown, who is now a student at OU, is Miss Nebraska for 1949. Harry Langdon will sing two selections.

Prof talks in Topeka

"Values of Publicity" were discussed by Robert L. Mossholder, Journalism Department head, last Thursday in a speech at Topeka, Kans. He addressed a Tenth District Meeting of Optimists International.

Sports grouped

Besides the revision in team setups, the point system has been changed completely. All sports will be classified in four groups with varied amounts of points to be given for participation in these groups. Forfeits will be deducted from these points. Points will be awarded for six instead of three places.

Cheerleader tryouts set for today at 4

Cheerleader tryouts are scheduled today from 4 to 5 p.m. in the auditorium.

Medals awarded

In addition to scoring team points, medals will be awarded champions and runners-up in individual competition such as boxing and tennis.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Sig Chi pledges pick officers, "Mothers"

Sig Chi's new pledges elected officers and selected their "mothers" at the sorority's meeting Thursday night at Nancy Camuan's home.

Pledge officers are: Gloria Haarman, president; Joan Bussell, vice president; Ruth Ann Irvin, secretary, and Paula Diehl, treasurer.

Other business discussed by the group included Homecoming room decoration plans, Freshman Day, and football game seating. Eleven girls volunteered to represent Sig Chi for an inter-pep committee stunt. Peggy Smith and Sherry Selders were elected co-chairman of the Homecoming room decorations.

Sig Chi's officers for the current season are Gayle Eustice, president; Jackie Geilus, vice president; Gloria Schiro, secretary; Rosamond Johnson, treasurer, and Ann Weinhardt and Jeanette Snyder, sergeant-at-arms.

Warriors to fete pledge prospects

The Warriors, male pep organization, are holding an open house for prospective pledges in the Snack Shack, Thursday at 7:00 p.m.

At their meeting last Tuesday in the east section of the lounge, President Pat Wilcox stressed that any student interested in joining the organization should come to the open house.

A new and more active pledge program plus increased participation in pep rallies are on the agenda for the year.

Other officers for the current semester are Chuck Djureen, vice president; Bill Samuelson, secretary; and Bob Jones, treasurer. Representatives for the Inter-Pep committee are Wally Baker and Jim Borland.

Chi Omegas discuss projects at meeting

Projects for the coming year were discussed at Chi Omegas first meeting Wednesday.

Guest speaker at both active and pledge meetings was Miss Shirley Henke, chapter visitor from the national Chi O headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Thirty-three members of the pledge class chose their sorority mothers, and elected the following officers: Donna Edstrand, president; Joan White, secretary, and Emily Egoft, treasurer. Pat Smith and Jeannette Gunderson were named for the junior inter-sorority Council.

Independents begin membership drive

Monday marked the beginning of the Independent's membership drive.

Students may sign up at a table in the second floor hall.

At their meeting, last Tuesday at 4 p.m., the organization made plans for a general get-together of all unaffiliated students in the last week of October. Joyce Cole is in charge.

Clifford Boyd was appointed chairman for Homecoming plans.

Arrangements to send delegates to the regional convention of the National Independents Student Association at Nebraska University, Nov. 11 and 12, were also discussed.

Alpha Sig's party on deck for Friday

Alpha Sigs will have a Shipwreck Party on the shore of Carter Lake Friday.

At the fraternity meeting last Tuesday, activities decided on a pirate theme, and a treasure hunt for the party. Attendance is limited to Alpha Sigs, and their dates. The Shipwreck Party will replace the fraternity's annual aqua-hayride.

Members also planned their calendar for the current year, and talked over duties for their new pledges. Formal pledging is scheduled for Thursday.

This year's officers are Erwin Schultz, president; Jerry Leffler, vice president; Frank Parks, secretary; and Jim Borland, treasurer.

Prospective Feathers are honored at tea

The Feathers will be hostesses at a tea, Wednesday from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m., in the faculty club room, for sophomore, junior and senior women interested in pledging the pep organization.

Jean Pollard was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Tentative plans for activity of last semester pledges include a pot luck picnic. Beverly Swahn is chairman.

This semester's officers are Eileen Wolfe, president; Jean Satarapa, vice president; Eleanor Stastny, secretary; and Marion Heiser, treasurer.

Treasurers told right way to keep records

Treasurers of all social organizations and service groups were instructed to keep more accurate accounts of their finances at a meeting September 26.

Club books will be audited three times each semester. November 4 is the date of the first auditing.

Social Register

New officers were elected at the Engineer's Club meeting held Thursday night at 7 p.m. in the east lounge.

Those elected were Bruce Crabbe, president; Lucien LaRue, vice president; Duane Olberts, secretary; Kenneth Dias, treasurer.

General plans for the coming year's activities were discussed and the group's constitution was reviewed. No major changes were made.

The group is open to all male students interested in engineering.

Pledge officers for Phi Psi were elected at the sorority's first meeting Friday.

Charlotte Longville, president; Joan Eddy, vice president; Janis Johnson, secretary; and Syntha Judd, treasurer are the newly elected pledge officers.

Ten girls volunteered to carry placards at the Omaha U-Northern Illinois game.

Home Ec Club to hold picnic tonight

A membership drive picnic is being held by the Home Ec Club in Elmwood Park tonight at 5:30 p.m.

Invitations were issued to all new and old members of the club for the get-acquainted activity. The group is open to all home economics majors.

Installation of new officers will also take place at the gathering. Those to be installed are Eda Ree Haas, president; Pat Doyle, vice president; Priscilla Park, treasurer; and Jeanette Brown, secretary.

The picnic will be held in the park pavillion regardless of weather conditions. Sponsors for the organization are Mrs. Nellie Jones and Miss Margaret Killian.

A report on the Delta Sig national convention was given by President George Wickman, at a meeting in the east lounge, Friday at 7 p.m.

The commerce frat also adopted a new constitution and by-laws and discussed pledging procedure.
